Hi Sandra,

I just wanted to be sure you got this. I should have sent this also to Dr. Weiss, so I am forwarding it to her now. Thank you.

Hi Sandra,

Attached is an irregularity report for the HDS exam that we gave today in Olson. Please see the link below for further documentation. Perhaps the student is simply nervous, but he needs to be told to keep his eyes on his own computer.

I added the answer key in the second row. If they got the answer incorrect it displays as lower case.

Thanks,
Lisa

Thank you Lisa. Is there any way to have the correct answers as well so that I can see if they both got the same questions wrong?

Please feel free to contact me in my office (B-204), by email at semerick@neomed.edu, or at 330.325.6759 if I can be of any assistance.

Thank you,

Sue – can you send me the exams of Julian Endres and [REDACTED] (who sat to Julian's right and whose computer seemed to be where Julian was looking)?
I'd like to compare test answers. Thank you.

Please feel free to contact me in my office (B-204), by email at semerick@neomed.edu, or at 330.325.6759 if I can be of any assistance.

Subject: CONFIDENTIAL: CAPP referral recommendation

CAPP Co-Chairs:

I received an exam irregularity report for the recent HDS quiz (attached). The incident is viewable at: Olson Exam - Sept. 28, 2015

Hans – before you review the material below and the attachment, consider whether you want to weigh in on this question because you're also the Course Director.

A student was observed and video taped clearly showing him viewing a peer's computer screen repeatedly during the exam. Their test scores compare as follows:

- Student A – Endres (alleged academic misconduct) (test grade 72%)
- Student B – [REDACTED] (computer being viewed; unaware of misconduct) (test grade 64%)
- 84% of the 2 tests were identical
- Of the 84% identical, 6 questions were answered wrong by both students (24%) and 15 questions were answered correctly by both students (60%)
- 4 questions were answered wrong and differently by both students

I would like your feedback regarding whether you believe this matter should be referred to CAPP as an academic dishonesty allegation.

Please feel free to contact me in my office (B-204), by email at semerick@neomed.edu, or at 330.325.6759 if I can be of any assistance.
